She attended St. Elizabeth Convent in Paincourtville, and graduated from St. Vincent Institute (now Ascension Catholic High School) in Donaldsonville. She worked as a secretary for Sugar Bowl Gas Company for a few years before her marriage to Leonard Guedry and subsequent move to Daytona Beach, Fla. Upon her return to Napoleonville with her husband and young son, she became a devoted wife and mother. Although she worked as a secretary for Leonard's insurance business, her main focus was caring for her family. Over the years, her hobbies were her Catholic religion, sewing, cooking, and caring for her families and others. She was a member of many local organizations throughout her life. Shirley was a devout Catholic woman. She attended Mass almost daily, prayed for everybody and prayed the rosary every day of the week. She was heavily involved in the local religious education organization and taught catechism to the first communion class of St. Anne Church for more than 30 years. Landry's Funeral Home in Thibodaux is in charge of arrangements.
